Board Dismissal for Lack of Jurisdiction

On December 13, 2016, Petitioner Dennis S. Zagurski, formerly employed in the Baltimore County Public School System, filed a complaint before the State Labor Relations Board (SLRB, Board), pursuant to COMAR 14.32.05. In his complaint, Mr. Zagurski alleges that the above named Respondent engaged in HIPPA violations, denied Mr. Zagurski pay and usurped his remaining personal time before conclusion of Board of Education processes or hearings, engaged in slander and misquoted Mr. Zagurski, and improperly terminated his employment over a public airwaves setting. As relief, Mr. Zagurski is requesting restitution and pardoning.

Mr. Zagurski's complaint is deficient in that the State Labor Relations Board does not have jurisdiction over those employed or formerly employed by the Baltimore County Public School System. The SLRB functions under Maryland's Collective Bargaining law, found at State Personnel & Pensions Article, Title 3, sections 101 – 602. Section 3-102 discusses the applicability of the Collective Bargaining Law, and neither public schools nor public school employees (or former employees) are included in the list of agencies or types of employees to which the Collective Bargaining Law applies.

For the above reasons, this matter is dismissed.
